Valois: I would be happy to sit with just you and Nat to walk him through UIC's thinking on this. I just don't think articulating it in an email would be appropriate.

Hi all. Just now reviewing this.

No major concerns with your edits and refinements Kimi.

Ex. 5 AC/DP

No major objection to those edits, just curious.

Call @ Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) you want to discuss.

Would appreciate an update on how the briefing with the Administrator went today when we know and you have time.

I cannot emphasize strongly enough how privileged I feel to have had a very small part in reviewing information related to this project with you all who have been working so diligently on it for some time.

Your professional attitudes and dedication, including the impressive response from HQ, so hard pressed in these times of intense transition, is testimony to EPA's dedication, commitment and outstanding competence. Thank you for yet another shining example of why this Agency is such a joy to be a part of.

Hope you are enjoying the late coming snow Coloradans!

Hello -
Attached are some edits on this latest version.

Nat/Jennifer/Justin/Jessica – please take a look at the edits to the conclusion in particular to make sure you are comfortable with it.

Nat, there are some other suggested edits to the new sections that you may want to review.
Thanks!

I'm off tomorrow, but given the tight time frame, please feel free to call my cell if you'd like to discuss anything. Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)

Thanks,
Kimi

of this is found in a 2015 presentation done by the US Department of Energy's National Energy Technology Lab, slide 17. <https://www.eia.gov/conference/2015/pdf/presentations/skone.pdf>. Nuclear energy life cycle ghg emissions are more than wind and less than solar in this 2015 presentation.

Hope this helps.

Here is the updated climate change document.

I kept many of the comments in the margin so my managers can get an idea of the concerns/guidance you provided, since this is new to us.

Thanks so much with your help with all this!
